

Bilby

The Bilby is the smallest marsupial in Australia.

It has brown and black fur and big ears. It has a long tail and sharp claws for digging and scratching.

The Bilby lives in the Australian outback in small burrows.

A bilby is an omnivores.

It eats baby mice, worms, plants, fungi, lizards, spider and termites.

Did you know? That bilbys don't have a pouch. They carry their babies on their back.

The Noongar people called bilbys DjALKat.
