

Dingo Dingo

The Dingo is an Australian wild animal. A Dingo is a warm blooded mammal. Did you know that a Dingo howls not barks?

The Australian wild Dingo's fur is white and bright brown. It has a fluffy tail and big ears for hearing its prey.

Dingos live in the bushes or the grassland. They also live in packs.

The Dingo can eat a whole Kangaroo from top to bottom.

They also eat meat and it eats lizards, rodents and sheep.

The Dingoes have big sharp canine teeth to rip the flesh from the ribs of their pray like sheep and lizards.

Did you know? The Dingo hunts at night because all the animals are asleep

so it makes it easier to capture them.
